The Cornerstone Academy History Curriculum for Years 7-11

KS3=Key stage 3

KS4=Key stage 4

The Cornerstone Academy History Curriculum is studied by all students in Key stage 3. At KS4 options students study Edexcel GCSE History; Medicine Through Time 1250-present, Early Elizabethan England 1588-1588, Superpower relations and the Cold War 1941-91 and Weimar and Nazi Germany 1918-1939.

1. Intent of the History curriculum

The lessons within this new KS3 curriculum are based on a knowledge-rich history scheme and the key concepts of knowledge-rich teaching as set out in the Rosenshine Principles of Instruction. This means there is a real focus on subject knowledge and a true understanding of historical substantive concepts e.g. revolution, monarchy, empire.

The purpose of study for the United Learning KS3 History Curriculum is the same as that of the September 2013 History National Curriculum purpose of study:

'A high-quality history education will help pupils gain a coherent knowledge and understanding of Britain's past and that of the wider world. It should inspire pupils' curiosity to know more about the past. Teaching should equip pupils to ask perceptive questions, think critically, weigh evidence, sift arguments, and develop perspective and judgement. History helps pupils to understand the complexity of people's lives, the process of change, the diversity of societies and relationships between different groups, as well as their own identity and the challenges of their time.'

Aims

As for the purpose of study, the aims of the United Learning KS3 History Curriculum are the same as those of the September 2013 History National Curriculum. The curriculum for history aims to ensure that all pupils:

- Know and understand the history of these islands as a coherent, chronological narrative, from the earliest times to the present day: how people's lives have shaped this nation and how Britain has influenced and been influenced by the wider world.
- Know and understand significant aspects of the history of the wider world: the nature of ancient civilisations; the expansion and dissolution of empires; characteristic features of past non-European societies; achievements and follies of mankind.
- Gain and deploy a historically grounded understanding of abstract terms such as 'empire', 'civilisation', 'parliament' and 'peasantry'.
- Understand historical concepts such as continuity and change, cause and consequence, similarity, difference and significance, and use them to make connections, draw contrasts, analyse trends, frame historically valid questions and create their own structured accounts, including written narratives and analyses.
- Understand the methods of historical enquiry, including how evidence is used rigorously to make historical claims, and discern how and why contrasting arguments and interpretations of the past have been constructed.

- Gain historical perspective by placing their growing knowledge into different contexts, understanding the connections between local, regional, national and international history; between cultural, economic, military, political, religious and social history; and between short- and long-term timescales.

(Department for Education, History Programmes of Study Key Stage 3, September 2013, DFE-00194-2013)

The United Learning History Curriculum provides:

- A knowledge-based curriculum for the whole of KS3.
- A clear and coherent structure for each unit in each of Years 7, 8 and 9 to strengthen students' historical knowledge and chronological understanding.
- An enquiry-based question focus for each unit encompassing a combination of depth and overview enquiries.
- An explicit focus in each enquiry question upon substantive and disciplinary knowledge.
- An end of year overarching enquiry which brings together themes explored in the year and, at the end of Years 8 and 9, also links together work from the preceding academic year or years.
- Assessment outcomes through key performance indicators linked to each enquiry question and focused upon the learning that all students should be able to demonstrate at the end of each unit.

At KS4 students follow the Edexcel scheme of learning and the curriculum knowledge from KS3 will be built upon. Students will develop more specific knowledge around their 4 units of study. At KS4 students are assessed using knowledge tests (self-quizzing) and summative assessments based on GCSE past papers and specimen papers. In order to support students with their learning knowledge is consolidated through the use of online platforms such as Seneca.

2. Implementation of the History Curriculum

In years 7, 8 and 9 History is taught in 2x50 minute lessons per week (normally double lessons). Year 10 and 11 have 3x50 minutes per week (usually a double lesson and a single lesson).

The History curriculum at The Cornerstone Academy is implemented according to the teaching and learning policy of the school. Rosenshine and 'Teach Like a Champion' techniques are the basis of the school's teaching and learning practice. Staff will follow dedicated schemes of work to ensure that all students follow The Cornerstone Academy History Curriculum.

All lessons at each key stage should use quizzing to promote recall, retention, application and mastery of content. Students will have knowledge organisers with key subject content and key vocabulary which will be set for homework. This low stakes assessment for learning will be used by staff to inform their planning and class interventions.

Modelling should be used frequently with the aid of visualisers to guide student practice and improve the quality of student response. Resources have been adapted and blended to support online learning and ensure that the curriculum is accessible to all students in the event of an unplanned school closure.

3. Impact of the History Curriculum

By the end of KS3: Students will be confident and competent in the core skills of source analysis, understanding causation, significance, chronology, change and continuity, diversity and interpretation; all key skills used and tested throughout their GCSEs. Students will be comfortable with a variety of strategies used in the classroom such as group work, pair work and independent study and research opportunities. The use of ICT is also promoted both in and out of school to develop historical knowledge. Students will have key understanding of English History from the Norman Invasion, subsequent challenges to power of the church and monarchs, the Tudors, The English Civil War and The Slave Trade and how these events help to shape the world that we live in today. Importantly these topics provide a foundation for those intending to study History at KS4 and KS5. Students at KS3 will also have opportunities to study world history topics and experience residential and day trips to help make the study of History relevant to 21st century students.

By the end of KS4: students will have strengthened and consolidated skills and knowledge learnt in KS3 to allow them to have a more in-depth understanding of key concepts at KS4. Cornerstone students will have a clear picture of the key themes in medicine in Britain in the 1000-year period c1000-2000AD. They will have looked in depth at the key features of Early Elizabethan England, as well as the Cold war period and Weimar Nazi Germany. Carter Students will be able to confidently apply their knowledge to make clear inferences from source analyses, articulate their position on a topic, as well as express their opinion clearly using key knowledge to argue for or against a point.
